

Checklist – Request for Conciliation Form

1. Filling out the form

Make sure you have provided the following information:

- Your full name, personal details and contact information
- Do you need an interpreter?
Your family and friends cannot interpret for you at the conference. We can arrange a free interpreter to assist you.
- If so, what language and/or dialect do you need?
- Have you arranged to have an assistance provider at conciliation such as your union, WorkCover Assist or Union Assist?
Contact ACCS or see our website for further details.
- Authorised agent/self-insurer's name (who is handling your claim?)
- Your claim number
- Employer details (name, address, contact number)
- The date of the decision made by the authorised agent/self-insurer (if applicable). This is likely to be the date on the letter.
- The date you received the decision (if applicable) Note: A 60 day time limit applies to lodgement
- Details about why you are applying for conciliation – what are you disputing and what outcome do you desire?

2. Attach these documents to the form:

- A copy of the original letter from the authorised agent/self-insurer advising you of the decision (if applicable) – include the entire letter, including “reasons for the decision”.
Internal Review and Senior Review notices are not sufficient.
- If the dispute concerns a failure to respond to a request for compensation you must include a copy of the request that was made to the authorised agent/self-insurer.
- Other documents that may assist in resolving the dispute (medical reports, copies of accounts or receipts, payslips, certificates of capacity).
- Reasons for late lodgement if 60 days have passed since receipt of the authorised agent/self-insurer's decision letter.

3. Final step

The worker must personally sign and date the form.

The worker must sign the request themselves. If the worker cannot personally sign the form, reasons explaining why they cannot sign must be attached.

How conciliation may be able to help you

If you have a dispute regarding a Workers' Compensation claim, you can request conciliation by the Accident Compensation Conciliation Service.

Privacy Statement

The Accident Compensation Conciliation Service (ACCS) is a body corporate established under the current workers' compensation legislation. Personal and health information collected by the ACCS will be used for the purposes of processing and assessing this request for conciliation and conduct of the conciliation. It may also be used for other purposes related to the conciliation process, including administration and evaluation of the ACCS.

The ACCS may disclose personal and health information to your union or any other person who you have nominated to assist you; other parties to the conciliation; courts or tribunals; and any person or organisation authorised by you, or by law, to obtain it.

The ACCS is subject to secrecy provisions in the current workers' compensation legislation and only discloses information in accordance with that legislation. You are required to give part of this information to the ACCS by the current workers' compensation legislation. If you do not provide any part or all of this information, your request for conciliation may not be accepted or processed. You may gain access to your personal and health information collected by the ACCS by contacting us directly (details provided below). The ACCS's policies for the management of personal and health information are also available.

What is the Accident Compensation Conciliation Service?

The Accident Compensation Conciliation Service (ACCS) provides an independent service to resolve Workers' Compensation disputes. The objective of the ACCS is to be fair, quick and informal. Most disputes are resolved at meetings (called conferences) or over the phone between the people involved in the dispute.

City, country or work site conferences can be arranged and a free interpreter service is available.

No fee is charged by the ACCS.

What is conciliation?

Conciliation is an informal process which endeavours to help all parties in dispute to reach agreement through discussion. If the dispute is regarding a decision of an authorised agent/self-insurer you must request conciliation within 60 days of receiving the decision.

What will happen at conciliation?

All parties will be invited to attend a conference with a Conciliation Officer. The aim is to find a solution which is agreeable to all.

Please take note that:

- you will be asked to supply information (e.g. medical reports) in support of your view.
- you can be accompanied by an assistant and/or family member or friend.
- a solicitor can only attend a conciliation conference if all parties (worker, employer, Conciliation Officer and the authorised agent/self-insurer) agree.
- The authorised agent/self-insurer is liable to:
 - a) Pay your reasonable transport expenses to and from the Conciliation conference.*
 - b) Reimburse you for any loss of income sustained by attending the Conciliation conference.*

*You will be advised of the maximum amounts that can be claimed when you are notified of your conference date and time.

What happens if the dispute is not resolved at conciliation?

If the dispute is not resolved, a certificate may be issued which allows you to proceed to the Court system.

Step 1 Fill in this form

Complete the details on the front of this form.

If you are objecting to a decision of an authorised agent/self-insurer you must attach:

- a copy of the authorised agent/self-insurer decision, including reasons for the decision.
- if the dispute relates to a failure to respond to a request, a copy of the request.
- anything else which may assist to resolve the dispute e.g. medical reports, copies of accounts etc.

Please note: Information provided may be given to other parties to the conciliation.

Interpreter: The ACCS arranges professional, accredited interpreters.

Step 2 You must sign this form

Step 3 Send the form to:

Accident Compensation Conciliation Service
GPO Box 251, Melbourne Victoria 3001

Fax: (03) 9940 1000 Email: rhc@conciliation.vic.gov.au

The ACCS will write to you to confirm that your request has been received. If you require assistance completing this form, please contact the ACCS (details provided below).

Late applications

If you think your request will be received by the ACCS more than 60 days after you received or were told about the decision, you must attach written reasons why this request is late. Late requests may not be accepted.
